IN THE CLOSET.

A STORY FOR WIVES.

"Bedlam let loose! Pandemonium in rebellion! Chaos turned inside out!—What is the reason a man cannot be allowed to sleep in the morning without this everlasting racket raised aboat his ears? Children crying—door slamming—I will know the reason of this uproar."

Mr. Luke Darcy shut the door of his bedroom with considerable emphasis, and went straight to the breakfast parlor.

All was bright and quiet and pleasant there; the coal snapping and sparkling in the grate, the china and silver neatly arranged on the spotless damask cloth, and the green parrot drowsily winking his yellow eyes in the sunny glow of the eastern window—Bedlam plainly wasn't located just there, and Mr. Darcy went stormingly up stairs to the nursery.

Ah! the field of battle was reached at last. Mrs. Darcy sat in her little low chair before the fire, trying to quiet the screams of an eight month's old baby, scion of the house of Darcy, while another—a rosy boy of five years—lay on his back, prone on the floor; kicking and crying in an ungovernable fit of childish passion.

"Mrs. Darcy!" enunciated Luke, with a slow and ominous precision, "may I enquire what all this means? Are you aware that it is fifteen minutes past nine o'clock? Do you know breakfast is waiting?"

"I know, Luke—I know," said poor perplexed Mrs. Darcy, striving vainly to lift the rebellious urchin up by one arm. "Come Freddy, you are going to be good now, mamma is sure, and get up and be washed."

"No-o-o!" roared Master Freddy, performing a brisk tattoo on the carpet with his heels, and clawing the air furiously.

Like an avenging vulture, Mr. Darcy pounced abruptly down on his son and heir; carried him promptly to the closet, and turned the key upon his screams.

"Now, sir, you can cry out at your liesure. Evelyn nurse is waiting for the baby, we'll go down to breakfast."

"But, Luke," hesitated Mrs. Darcy, "you won't leave Freddy there?"

"Won't! I'd like to know why not? It's temper, nothing else, that is at the bottom of all these demonstrations, and I'll conquer that temper or I'll know the reason why. It ought to have been checked long ago; but you are so ridiculously indulgent. There is nothing I have so little tolerance for as a bad temper—nothing that ought to be so promptly and severely dealt with."

"But, if he'll say he is sorry, Luke?"

Mr. Darcy wrapped sharply at the panels of the door.

"Are you sorry for you naughtiness, young man?"

A fresh outburst of screams and a renewal of the tattoo was the answer.

"I am sure he is sorry, Luke," pleaded the all-extenuating mother, but Mr. Darcy shook his head.

"Entire submission is the only thing I will listen to," he said shortly. "I tell you, Evelyn, I am determined to uproot this temper."

Evelyn, with a dewy moisture shadowing her eyelashes, and a dull ache at her heart, followed her liege lord down to the breakfast table with as little appetite for the coffee, toast and eggs as might be.

A tall, blue-eyed young lady, with a profusion of bright chestnut hair, and cheeks like rose velvet, was already at the table when they descended, by name Clara Pruyn, by lienage Mrs. Darcy's sister. She opened her blue eyes rather wide as the two entered.

"Good gracious, Evy, what's the matter?"

"Nothing," answered Luke, tartly. "Mrs. Darcy, you appear to forget that I have eaten no breakfast."

"Something is the matter, though," said Clara, shrewdly. "What is it, Evelyn? Has Luke had one of his tantrums?"

Luke sat down his coffee with a sharp click.

"You use very peculiar expressions, Miss Pruyn."

"Very true ones," said Clara, saucily.

Evelyn smiled in spite of herself.

"It's only our Fred'dy who feels a little cross, and—"

"A little cross," interrupted the indignant husband. "I tell you, Evelyn, it's quite time that temper was checked. Oh, that parrot! what an intolerant screeching it keeps up! Mary take him into the kitchen, or I shall be tempted to wring his neck. Strange that a man can't have a little peace once in a while! What ails these eggs, Evelyn? I thought I had asked you to see that they were boiled fit for christians to eat?"

Mr. Darcy gave his egg, shell and all, a vindictive throw upon the grate. Evelyn's brown eyes sparkled dangerously as she observed the manouver, but she made no remark.

'And the plates are as cold as a stone, when I've implored again and again that they might be warmed. Well, I shall eat no breakfast this morning.'

'Whom will you punish most?' demanded Miss Clara. 'Evelyn give me another cup of coffee; its perfectly delightful.'

Luke pushed his chair back with a vengeance, and took his stand with his back to the fire, both hands under his coat tails.

'Please sir,' said the servant deprecatingly; 'the gas bill—the man says will you settle it while—"

'No!' roared Luke tempestously. 'Tell the man to go about his business. I'll have no small bills this morning, I won't be so persecuted!'

Mary retreated precipitately. Clara raised her long brown eyes.

'Do you know, Luke; she said demurely, 'I think you would feel a great deal better if you would do just as Freddy does—lie flat down on the floor and kick your heels against the carpet for awhile. Its an excellent escape valve when your choler gets the better of you.'

Luke gave his mischievous sister-in-law a glance that ought certainly have annihilated her, and walked out of the room, closing the door behind him with a bang that would bear no interpretation. Then Clara came round to her sister and buried her pink face in Evelyn's neck.

'Don't scold me, Evy, please—I know I have been very naughty to tease Luke so?'

'You have spoken nothing but the truth,' said Evelyn quietly, with her coral lips compressed, and a scarlet spot burning on either cheek, 'Clara I sometimes wonder how I can endure the daily cross of my husband's temper.'

'Temper!' said Clara, with a toss of her chestnut brown hair. 'And the poor dear fellow hasn't the least idea how disagreeable he makes himself.'

'Only this morning,' said Evelyn, 'he punished Freddy with unrelenting severity for a fit of ill humor which he himself has duplicated within the last half hour. I am not a moralist, but it strikes me that the fault is rather to be censured in a full grown, reasoning man than in a child.'

'Evelyn,' said Clara gravely,' 'do you suppose he is beyond the power of cure?'

'I hope not; but what can I do?—Shut him up as he shut little Freddy?'

Evelyn's merry, irresistible laugh was checked by the arch, peculiar expression in Clara's blue eyes.

'The remedy needs to be something short and sharp,' said Clara, 'and the dark closet system certainly combines both requisites. Tears and hysterics were played out long ago in matrimonial skirmishes, you know, Evy.'

"Nonsense!" laughed Mrs. Darcy, rising from the breakfast table in obedience to her husband's peremtory summons from above stairs, while Clara shrugged her shoulders and went to look for her work-basket.

Luke was standing in front of his bureau drawer, flinging shirts, collars, cravats and stockings recklessly upon the bed room floor.

"I'd like to know where my silk handkerchiefs are, Mrs. Darcy?" he fumed. "Such a state as my brain is in, is enough to drive a man crazy!"

"It's enough to drive a woman crazy, I think!" said Evelyn, hopelessly, stooping to pick up a few of the scattered articles.

"You were at the bureau last. Luke, it is your own fault."

"My fault—of course it's my fault!" snarled Luke, giving Mrs. Darcy's poodle a kick that sent it howling to its misstress. "Anything but a woman's retorting, recriminating tongue. Mrs. Darcy, I won't endure it any longer."

"Neither will I!" said Evelyn, resolutely advancing, as her husband plunged into the closet for his business coat, and promptly shutting and locking the door. "I think I've endured it quite long enough—and here is an end of it."

"Mrs. Darcy, open the door," said Luke, scarcely able to credit the evidence of his own senses.

"I shall do no such thing," said Mrs. Darcy, composedly beginning to rearrange shirts, stockings and flannel wrappers in their appropriate receptacles.

"Mrs. Darcy," roared Luke, at a feaver heat of impotent rage, "what on earth do you mean!"

"I mean to keep you in the clothes press, Mr. Darcy, until you have made up your mind to come out in a more amiable frame of mind. If the system succeeds with Freddy, it certainly ought to with you; and I am sure your temper is much more intolerable than his."

There was a dead silence of full sixty seconds in the closet, then a sudden burst of vocal wrath.

"Mrs. Darcy, open the door this instant, madam."

But Evelyn went on humming a saucy little opera air, and arranging her clothes.

"Do you hear me?"

"Yes—I hear you."

"Will you obey me!"

"Not until you have solemnly promised me to put some sort of control on that temper of yours; not until you pledge yourself hereafter to treat your wife as a lady should be treated; not as a menial."

"I won't."

"No! Then in that case I hope you don't find the atmosphere at all oppressive there, as I think it probable you will remain there some time."

Another sixty seconds of dead silence, then a sudden rain of heels and hands against the relentless wooden panels.

"Let me out, I say, Mrs. Darcy!—Madam, how dare you perpetrate this monstrous piece of audacity?"

"My dear Luke, how strongly you do remind me of Freddy. You see there is nothing I have so little tolerance for as a bad temper. It ought to have been checked long ago, only you know I'm so ridiculously indulgent."

Mr. Darcy winced a little at the familiar sound of his own words.

Tap-tap-tap came softly to the door. Mrs. Darcy, composedly opened it, and saw her husband's little office boy.

"Pleas, ma'am, there's some gentlemen at the office in a great hurry to see Mr. Darcy. It's about the Applegate will case."

Mrs. Darcy hesitated an instant; there was a triumphant rustle in the closet, and her determination was taken.

"Tell the gentlemen that your master has a bad headache, and won't be down town this morning."

Luke gnashed his teeth audibly, as soon as the closing of the door admonished him that he might do so with safety.

"Mrs. Darcy, do you presume to interfere with the transaction of business that is vitally important, ma'am, vitally important?"

Mrs. Darcy nonchalantly took up the little opera air where she had left it, letting the soft Italian words ripple musically off her tongue.

'Evelyn, dear!'

'What is it, Luke,' she asked mildly.

'Please let me out. My dear, this may be a joke to you, but—'

'I assure you, Luke, it's nothing of the kind; it's the soberest of serious matters to me. It is a question as to whether my furure life shall be miserable or happy."

There was a third interval of silence.

'Evelyn,' said Luke, presently, in a subdued voice, 'will you open the door?'

'On one condition only.'

'And what is that?'

'Ah, ah!' thought the little lieutenant general, 'he's beginning to entertain terms of capitulation, is he? On condition,' she added aloud, 'that you will break yourself of the habit of speaking crossly to me, and on all occasions keep your temper.'

'My temper, indeed!' sputtered Luke.

'Just your temper,' returned his wife, serenely. 'Will you promise?'

'Never, ma'am!'

Mrs. Darcy quietly took up a pair of hose that required mending, and prepaired to leave the apartment. As the door creaked on its hinges, however, a voice came shrilly through the opposite keyhole.

'Mrs. Darcy Evelyn! wife!'

'Yes.'

'You are not going down stairs to leave me in this place?'

'I am.'

'Well, look here—I promise all and everything that you require—confound it all!'

Wisely deaf to the muttered sequel, Mrs. Darcy opened the door and Luke stalked out, looking right over the top of her shining brown hair.

Suddenly a little detaining hand was laid on his coat sleeve.

'Luke, dear!'

'Well?'

'Won't you give me a kiss?

And Mrs. Darcy burst out crying on her husband's shoulder.

"Well!" ejaculated the puzzled Luke, 'if you aren't the greatest enigma going. A kiss? Yes, a half dozen of 'em if you want, you kindhearted little turnkey. Do not cry, pet, I'm not angry with you, although I suppose I ought to be.'

'And may I let Freddy out?'

'Yes, on the same terms that his papa was released. Evelyn, was I very intolerable?'

'If you hadn't been, Luke, I never should have ventured on such a violent remedy.'

'Did I make you very unhappy?'

'Very'.

And the gush of warm, sparkling tears supplied a dictionary full of words.

Luke Darcy buttoned up his overcoat, put on his hat, shouldered his umbrella, and went upon the new state of affairs that had presented itself for his consideration.

'By Jove,' he ejaculated, 'that little wife of mine is a bold woman and a plucky one.'

And thus he burst out laughing on the steps.

It is more than probable that he left his stock of bad temper in the law buildings that day, for Evelyn and Clara never saw any more of it; and Freddy is daily getting the best of the peppery element in his infantile disposition.

Men, after all, are but children of a larger growth; and so Mrs. Evelyn Darcy had reasoned.

A GOOD STORY.

"Gus," writing to the Cincinnati Gazette, say:

Here is a little story for you. It happened at the Utica restaurant. A man entered the other day and called for a dinner. His orders were of the most elaborate character, and fairly staggered the resources of even a Utica restaurant keeper. He lingered long at the table, and finally wound up with a bottle of wine. Then lighting a cigar he had ordered, leisurely sauntered up to the counter and said to the proprietor:

"Very fine dinner, landlord; just charge it to me, I haven't got a cent."

"But I don't know you," said the proprietor indignantly.

'Of course you don't. If you had, you wouldn't let me have the dinner."

"Pay me for the dinner, I say!"

"And I say I can't. Havne't got the blunt."

"I'll see about that," said the proprietor, somewhat furious at the "bilk." Then he snatched a revolver out of a drawer and leaped over the counter, collared the man, exclaiming, as he pointed it at his head, "Now see if you will get away with that dinner without paying for it, you scoundrel."

"What is that you hold in your hand?" said the getter away with free dinners, drawing back.

"That, sir, is a revolver, sir."

"Oh, that's a revolver, is it? I don't care a d—n for a revolver, I thought it was a stomach pump?"

THE BOY WITH STRONG NERVES.

When Jack Bolby first came to Newton school he found all the boys in such a state of excitement that his arrival as a new scholar was hardly noticed.—Jack had never been to boarding-school before, and, of course, did not see anything strange in the fact that the other boys left him to himself; nor would he have ever found out it was unusual if Tom Finch had not told him so, the evening after his arrival. Tom was Jack's cousin, and as soon as he could get away from his classes he came to give Jack welcome, and help him arrange his room.

"What! this?"

This was the exclamation uttered by Tom as he crossed the threshold of Jack's chamber and looked around with consternation on his face.

"What's the matter, Tom?" asked Jack, in surprise.

"Matter?" cried Tom, "Do you mean to say that this is the room they've given you?"

"Yes."

"Whe-e-e e-e e-e-e-ew!"

"What in the world's the matter? What are you whistling about?"

"O—nothing!—it's nothing—only—I was thinking—that they would give you another one, somewhere else."

Tom stammered and hesitated while saying this, but Jack did not remark it.

"Well, it's not a bad room," said he; "I'm glad I have so good a one."

Tom had to leave pretty early, and promised, as he left the room, to be back on the following evening.

On the next evening, as they sat at supper. Tom suddenly changed the conversation with—

"O, Jack, I forgot to ask you how you slept last night."

"Sound as a top," said Jack.

"Hem! Didn't you hear any—any disturbance?"

"No."

"No noises?"

"My dear Tom, I was so far away in the land of Nod, that no sounds, from this world could reach me."

"And you like the room still?"

"The room? Like it? Of course I do. It's a first-rate room. But explain what all this means. You have a peculiar look whenever you speak about that room. What's the matter with it? Has any one died there with the small pox?"

"No."

"Well, what's the matter with it?"

"O, never mind."

"But I want to know."

"I'll tell you some time."

"Why not now?"

"There's no necessity. I'd rather not. I'll tell you in a week or so, if you wish; but you won't need me to tell you. You'll find out soon enough yourself."

Several hours passed, and Tom was in Jack's room, telling a ridiculous story about one of the boys, when suddenly he stopped short, and stared at Jack, with his face ghastly white.

"Why, Tom," cried Jack, "what in the world is the matter with you? You look—"

"Didn't you hear it?" gasped Tom, in a scarcely audible voice.

"Hear it?"

"Yes—the—the—there it is again. O, I can't stand it!"

"You are crazy?" cried Jack, starting up, and going over to his cousin. You're as pale as death. What's the matter?"

"It is there!" He shuddered.

"Now I'll be blowed if I can make you out at all. What do you mean?" cried Jack.

"As he spoke, there came a dull, low sound, like a footfall overhead, rather indistinct, but regular, like some one walking with a muffled tread. Over Jack's room was a large, unfinished garret, extending the whole length of the building, and Jack at once thought that some of the boys were up there.

"Tom's condition now was really alarming. "There, there—that is it—that is it!" he cried, and as he spoke, a low sigh came to Jack's ears.

"What! that?" cried Jack. "Do you mean to say that you're afraid of that? You are crazy. It is only some one walking in the garret in his slippers, or in his stocking feet. I hear the wind, too, blowing about the place. Are you such a fool, Tom, as to be afraid of that?'

"O, you don't know—you don't know," said Tom.

'Well, I will know precious soon.' said Jack; and seizing a lamp, he strode toward the door.

'Come along, Tom.'

But Tom didn't move.

'Will you come and see for yourself?' said Jack.

'I wouldn't go up there for the world; nor would any of the boys.—Jack there's a horror up there. None of the boys dare stay in the room. I wouldn't. You stay here because you don't know; but you'll leave it soon enough. There is something up there; we often hear it; and it is in this room that it sounds the worst. It's a mysterious walk of something. You hear a foot-fall, and a sigh, as one in pain On stormy nights, it is horrible. Dr. Pendergrast cannot make it out at all. None of the teachers can. They've tried to reason us out of fear, but they are afraid themselves. The last boy we put in this room rushed out at midnight, almost frightened to death. You were put in here because you were a new boy. Dr. Pendergrast wouldn't sleep here himself, I know.'

All this Tom poured forth in a slightly incoherent manner, and concluded by entreating Jack to leave the room at once, and pass the night with him. Jack heard him through with a look of wonder.

'Well, I declare!' he exclaimed.—'What a set! 'Pon my word, I never would have believed all this of you if you hadn't told me with your own lips. You talk like a school-girl of six; and you seem to take me for a baby. A ghost! ah, ah, ah! What rot and rubbish! And then to find a whole school going mad after it! O, Tom! Tom! I wouldn't have thought this of you. Come, shake yourself, and be a man. Come up with me, now."

Tom shook his head.

'Well,' said Jack, 'I'll have to go alone, and you must feel ashamed of yourself. Come.'

'No!' said Tom, with a downcast face.

'O, Tom! Have you no pride? Will you let me stand here, and dare you to follow me?"

'Jack, it's madness.'

'Pooh!' said Jack; and, without another word, he left the room, and walked along the hall to where the staircase ran up to the garret. Tom looked after him, and seemed, at one time, gathering up his courage to follow. He even took one step forward; but at that moment there came from above a heavier sound, like a heavier, firmer foot-fall, and a long, shrill sigh resounded through the whole hall. It froze the very blood in his veins. He shrank back; and instead of following Jack, he ran down stairs in terror.

But no sooner had he reached the lower floor than he felt a pang of intolerable shame. He had deserted his friend and left him to encounter that mysterious fate. Yet, what could he do? He dared not go back. But something must be done. So he went to some friends and told them what Jack was doing.

The tidings created an immense sensation. It spread from one to the other, till, finally the whole school had learned that the new boy had gone alone to the garret to face the ghost.

At first they gathered in the lower hall listening.

There was no sound.

Then some of the bolder ones ventured into the second story. The presence of the whole school stimulated them to this unparalleled feat of hardihood.

Still there was no sound.

They waited some time, and at last Tom found courage enough to venture up to the top of the stairs leading to the third story, in company with three or four others, while all the rest crowded into the staircase, listening and watching.

At first they heard nothing; but at last, amid deathly stillness, they heard a sliding noise, of a mysterious character, then a long, low sigh, which grew louder and louder till it seemed to come close to them, and die away in a sharp wail. Then, immediately there came that muffled tread—tramp—tramp tramp; measured solemn, awful! and their hearts stopped beating, while all shrank back.

But suddenly there came another sound.

It was another footfall!

Tramp—tramp—tramp—it sounded, and the step was firm, and solid, and loud; and it seemed as though the footfalls went side by side; as though two were walking there, where only one had walked before. What was it? Who was it? What had become of Jack? As the second sound arose, a rush of superstitious terror came over them and they shrank back down the stairway, back into the lower hall, gathering into a pale crowd, and listening to the awful sounds.

But there suddenly came a loud cry.

'Tom! Hallo-o-o-o-o! Tom Finch! To-o-o-o-o-o-o-om! Hallo-o-o-o-o-o!'

It was not the voice of a ghost. It was not the cry of fear. It was the strong, healthy, cheery voice of Jack Bolby himself.

Instantly the crowd gave a start, after which they made a wild rush forward, and up the stairs into the third story, and up another stairway into the garret. Tom was the first up, but a great crowd was following closely at his heels.

They saw Jack in the middle of the garret with a lamp in his hand, staring at them. As he looked a smile came over his face, which ended in a merry peal of laughter.

Now at that very moment, there sounded the ghost's footfall, and a long sigh, but somehow or other the sound of Jack's laugh and the sight of his face took away all fear; and that which a moment before might have made them almost die with horror, now began to assume the character of a thing that might be ludicrous.

'What! you're all here,' said Jack. 'That's right. I've found the ghost. Come here,' said he, and he led the way to the window at the end of the garret, which he had opened. 'Now listen. There do you hear it? The footfall is the rap, rap, rap, of the lines against the flagstaff, fastened at the end of the house, ust overhead; and I confess it sounds exactly like some one walking. As to the sigh, it is only the wind in this long garret.

All was plain. The ghost was laid and Jack gained no end of renown.—Youth's Companion.

Mr. Beecher's annual auction of choice reserved seats in Plymouth Church came off the other night in the Church. Mr. Beecher encouraged the sale by his presence. The bidding was quite spirited. Mr. Gage carried off the best seat which is near to the stage and orchestra, paying $615 therefor, including the annual rent. Mr. Bowen of the Independent, and Mr. Claflin, the dry goods prince paid respectfully $490 and $485 for the next best selections. The net sum realized was larger than in any previous year, and shows that Mr. Beecher's attractiveness as a "star" preacher has not declined.

THE SCULL-FINDLAY CASE.

The Seat Given to Findlay.

We gave, last week, an outline of the features of the Findlay-Scull contest, in the State Senate, in reference to the prima facie right to the seat in that body for the Twentieth Senatorial district, composed of the counties of Bedford, Fulton and Somerset. The whole case, in a nut-shell, was just this: The return judges of Somerset county had refused to count the vote of Allegheny township, in that county, because the return judge for that township brought to their meeting the tally paper, instead of the return. The district return judges, however, counted the vote of Allegheny township. If the vote of that district had been rejected, Scull would have been elected by 17 majority. It was counted and Findlay was returned as elected by 23 majority.—The question of the power of the district return judges to count the vote of Allegheny tp., was argued at great length in the Senate, and finally, on Wednesday evening of last week, the sense of the Senate on the subject was tested by a vote on a resolution to admit Mr. Scull to the seat. The resolution was lost by a tie vote, 15 to 15, two Republican Senators, Messrs. Billingfelt and Lowry voting with the Democoats against it. The effect of this vote was to rule Mr. Scull out of court, and to leave Mr. Findlay as the only claimant to the seat. Accordingly, on the next day the latter was sworn in and now occupies the seat.

The reader must not understand from this that the matter has come to an end. No sooner had Mr. Findlay taken his seat, than Mr. Scull filed a petition setting forth an undue election and claiming that Mr. Findlay's majority was made up of illegal votes. The former contest was as to which of the two was to be given the seat prima facie, that is on the face of the returns. Now a contest is to be made which involves an inquiry into the character of those returns and the legality of the votes cast for the respective candidates.

This investigation will be a very expensive one to the tax-payers, witnesses will be required to attend at Harrisburg, and much work will have to be performed by the Sergeant-at-arms of the Senate and by the committee drawn to try the case. Why Mr. Scull, who now holds an office the salary of which is much greater than the pay of a Senator, should be so anxious to get into the Senate as to rake over the district for a few illegal votes, seems an enigma to some people. The reason for his persistence in the matter is well known to the initiated. It was a part of the contract between himself and Cessna, when the latter obtained Stutzman's withdrawal and arranged the nomination of Scull, at Philadelphia, that he (Scull) should resign the Assessorship of Internal Revenue in order that Cessna might fill the office with a Franklin county man. There are at least two Franklin county politicians who demand this office at the hands of Mr. Cessna. One of them is Mr. Cook, of the Repository, the other is a Mr. Ritchey. It is this Franklin county pressure on Cessna that is driving Mr. Scull up to the work of contesting Findlay's election. The Philadelphia bargain is to be carried out, which cannot be done if Scull fails to get into the Senate.

There can be no doubt of the fairness and legality of Mr. Findlay's election. There were, we are satisfied, more illegal and fraudulent votes polled for Scull than for Findlay. But these votes must now be ascertained and proved.—If Democrats will exercise but ordinary activity and care in looking up such votes, we have no doubt that a sufficient number can be found to swell Mr. Findlay's majority, to at least one hundred. We, therefore, call on the active Democrats in each and every election district in the counties of Bedford, Fulton and Somerset, to gather all the information they can obtain in regard to illegal Republican votes cast at the late election, and forward such information at once, by letter, to Hon. Hiram Findlay, Senate, Harrisburg. The names of persons under the age of 21 years, or persons not having paid a State or county tax assessed within two years next preceding the last election, of persons not having a legal residence in the election district, or in the State, at the last election, of persons not registered and who failed to make the affidavits required by the Registry Law, &c., who voted for Mr. Scull, and also the names of Democrats whose votes were rejected and the reasons for their rejection, with names of witnesses by whom such votes, or such rejection of votes, may be proved, should be ascertained and forwarded as above. Unless this be done immediately, say within the next ten days, it will be of no avail. Let this work, then, be performed at once.

CESSNA THE DISUNIONIST.

Virginia, after having been re-constructed in the latest and most approved fashion, having elected a carpet-bagger Governor, chosen a negro Congressman and sent a number of negroes to the legislature, and having eaten dirt by the bushel in ratifying the Fifteenth amendment, is still excluded from the Union. A bill for her re-admission has been under discussion in Congress ever since the commencement of the session and still hangs fire in the Senate. The radicals in Congress are divided on the subject. The extreme ring, led by Sumner in the Senate, and by Butler in the House, oppose the admission of Virginia as at present re-constructed. They propose to exact new and more severe conditions from the people of that persecuted state. They are not satisfied with the low humiliation and abject obedience of the high-minded and honorable Virginian. They must see him bound to their political car with bands of iron before they are willing to allow his state representation in Congress. The moderates under the lead of Trumbull in the Senate and Bingham in the House, are ready to accept the sacrifices of Virgina as a complete atonement for her past sins, and favor her immediate re-admission. Bingham's bill declaring the State entitled to representation in Congress passed the House, on Friday last, after a prolonged and bitter opposition. The radical delegation from this State divided equally on the question. Messrs. Armstrong, Cake, Gillfillan, Mercur, Scofield, Morrell, Myers and Packer voted yea; Messrs. Cessna, Dickey, Donley, Kelley, Negley, O'Niell, Phelps and Townsend voted nay. Stick a pin right here. Let the people of the Sixteenth Congressional District understand that their representative, Mr. Cessna, votes against the restoration of Virginia to the Union, in spite of the recommendation of President Grant. The blatant and brawling demagogue who was wont to bellow for the "Union," now votes in Congress to keep the Union dissolved. He is a disunionist. He is alike faithless to the party in whose bosom he was nurtured, and to the cause which he has latterly professed to uphold. His treason to the Democracy and his infidelity to the cause of a restored Union are akin in every respect. The fact is he cannot be true to anything except his own selfish and ambiticus aims. But we dislike to be personal. We would only like to know what the "Union men" par excellence, the Republicans, of this Congressional district, think of their representative voting to keep Virginia out of the Union. Are they with Grant, and Trumbull and Bingham and Farnsworth, or with Sumner and Butler and the carpet-bagger Whittemore, and little John Cessna? One of these parties must be wrong. Which is it? If the radical newspapers of this district are not struck dumb by this vote of Cessna's, they will give us their opinions on the subject. Men and brethren, let us hear from you!

A GREAT VICTORY.

The legislature met, in joint convention, on Wednesday, the 12th inst., and elected Gen. W. W. Irwin, of Beaver county, State Treasurer for the ensuing year. R. W. Mackey, Esq., was the caucus nominee of the Republicans, but his management of the Treasury had caused so much dissatisfaction that a number of Republican Senators and Representatives refused to support him. These united with the Democrats on Gen. Irwin, as an independent candidate, who was elected by a vote of 70 to 61 for Mackey. There were three ballots. On the first the Democrats voted for D. O. Barr, of Pittsburg, who had received the caucus nomination, giving him 55 votes. On the second ballot all the Democrats but two voted for Irwin. On the third, the Democrats voted solid for Irwin. Fifteen Republicans voted for Irwin on the third and last ballot. This is a great victory over the Treasury ring and cannot fail to redound to the benefit of the tax-ridden people of the Commonwealth.

At the annual meeting of Plymouth Church, last week, it was resolved, by a vote of 80 to 25, that candidates for membership should not hereafter be required to assent to the Confession of Faith. Mr. BEECHER himself advocated the resolution with his customary earnestness, and said that the former rule, which excluded Universalist and other unorthodox Christians from the church, was unjust, and should be repealed. It thus appears that Mr. Beecher is determined to carry into practice the theory of the unimportance of creeds which he recently proclaimed in his new journal. Plymouth Church is henceforth to be a church without a creed, where Universalist and Presbyterian, Mohammedan and Buddhist can fraternize together.—Doubtless the Congregation will be largely recruited from among those who, like Mr. Beecher, regard theology as a matter of no consequence; but the few orthodox members which it now includes will hardly be willing to continue their membership—*N. THE TRAGEDY IN PARIS.

All Paris is in violent agitation on account of the killing of one of the editors of Rochefort's newspaper, the Marseillaise, by Prince Pierre Napoleon, the cousin of the Emperor, on Monday of last week. The paper had contained a gross libel on the Prince, and he sent Rochefort a message that if he would not send a second to his house, there would be an answer returned of "not at home." The Prince has related to Cassagnac, the journalist, how the tragedy occurred. "M. Fouville and M. Noir came to my residence with a menacing air, and their hands in their pockets, and presented a letter from M. Pascal Gronsett. I said, 'It is Rochefort and not his creatures that I seek.' 'Read the letter,' replied Noir. I had my hand on my pistol in my pocket. 'Are you responsible for it?' I asked. At this I received a slap in the face from Noir, when I drew my revolver and fired at him. Fouville crouched behind a chair, and, from the protection it afforded, aimed his revolver at me, but he could not get it off. I fired at him while in that position, when he ran out of the room. He stopped in the next room, and again turned his pistol towards me. I fired at him again and he fled."

The fire of the Prince was fatal. He is now in the hands of the police, to whom he delivered himself up immediately. It may well be imagined that the enemies of the empire will make the most out of this tragic event, in order to provoke the people to its overthrow. The pistol shot of Prince Pierre may be the first blow that will end in the downfall of the Bonaparte dynasty. This, however, would be quite as illogical as the causes of many other popular commotions. Prince Pierre Napoleon is a genuine democrat, and, perhaps, a much more sincere friend of liberty than Rochefort and his faction. He comes by his love of democratic ideas in a legitimate way. He is a son of that Lucien who would not abandon his republican opinions to accept a crown from the first Emperor. The Prince has remained, throughout an adventurous and romantic life, true to the principles in which he was reared. As a member of the Constituent Assembly during the Republic, he favored the most extreme democratic views, and voted almost constantly with the Mountain. Under the Empire, he has more than once shown his extremely intractable republican temper, much to the displeasure of his imperial cousin. Though bearing the title of Prince, he is not regarded as a member of the Imperial family, and is rarely seen in the Tuileries.

Nevertheless, this event cannot fail to most deeply affect the Emperor.—Although he cannot be in any way made responsible for the acts of this member of the family, yet the name of Napoleon will not escape the loudest denunciations from those who will rejoice at this new opportunity for agitation. Whether the Prince be acquitted, or dismissed with a fine, the enemies of the Emperor will not fail to employ every art to arouse the Parisian populace against the imperial government. The immense throng, estimated at fifty thousand persons, that attended the funeral of Noir, attest the agitation which has been evoked by the tragic deed on that impressionable population.

The event could not have fallen out more inopportunely for the Emperor. It is but a few days since a general amnesty was proclaimed, allowing Ledru Rollin and his banished compatriots to return. A liberal ministry had been placed in power, and a new chapter has been opened in the history of the Empire of Napoleon III. The Empress Eugenie had returned from the East laden with the relics of former centuries and with the riches of Egypt and Arabia, after presiding over a new triumph of French genius in the opening of the Suez Canal. Now comes this fatal pistol shot, public opinion is violently aroused, and many a wise scheme of diplomacy has been wrecked. An editor is slain by a Prince Imperial, and France is convulsed from centre to circumference. In former centuries such an event would have been dismissed with indifference. But now it shakes the most strongly entrenched throne in Europe.—Patriot.

Rochefort's paper, the Marseillaise, was published in mourning in Paris, and contained a characteristic card, signed by the editor, who alludes to the killing of M. Victor Noir as murder, and denounces the whole Bonaparte family. The next issue was confiscated by the authorities.—M. Fouville has published in the columns of the Marseillaise his account of the killing of M. Noir by Prince Pierre Bonaparte. The latter is reported to have heaped insults upon his unwelcome visitors, denouncing Rochefort, Grourset and their associates as carrion. M. Fouville further charges, in direct contradiction of Prince Pierre Bonaparte, that the latter first slapped Noir's face, then shot him, and immediately afterward commenced shooting at Fouville. The latter, imagining himself in a trap, beat a hasty retreat.

Rev. Horace Cook, the New York preacher who absconded mysteriously with Miss Maria Johnson, a member of his congregation, sent the young lady to her sorrowing parents in New York on Wednesday, from this city. Mr. Cook has given himself up to the authorities, and acts very much like an insane man. He declares that his conscience would not allow him to injure Miss Johnson in any way, even after his passions had forced upon him a resolve toward seduction. He assaulted editor of the New York World on Wednesday afternoon, for printing an article derogatory of his previous character, and hence his arrest.

One hundred and thirty gold brokers of New York have compromised suits brought suits against them by the Government for taxes levied on sales of gold.

CONGRESSIONAL.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.

Congress reassembled yesterday.

In the Senate, Mr. Cattell introduced a resolution favoring the including of the annexation of British Columbia among the subject of negotation with Great Britain. Bills were introduced by Mr. Stewart, extending the protection of the Civil Rights Act to the Chinese; also abolishing franking, and establishing a Government telegraph system; by Mr. Williams, to provide for the redemption of greenbacks in coin, at the rate of $1 in coin for $1 20 in greenbacks. The bill for the admission of Virginia was considered, and after an executive session, the Senate adjourned.

In the House, bills were introduced by Mr. Dickey, to exempt farmers and gardeners from paying brokers' tax on their sales; by Mr. Lawrence, to amend the Homestead law in favor of soldiers; by Mr. Asper, to extend the privileges of the National Banking act; by Mr. Wells, to repeal the bankruptcy laws; by Mr. Palmer, to establish free banking; by Paine, to apportion representatives, making the number 300 and for the admission of Virginia, and by Mr. Johnson, declaring the right of States to protect themselves against the effects of Chinese immigration. Mr. Bingham offered a resolution, declaring Virginia entitled to representation in Congress, and moved the previous question, which was seconded. The main question was then ordered—yeas, 68; nays 58. Mr. Benjamin, of Mo., moved to reconsider the vote ordering the main question. On this motion there was a tie vote, and the speaker giving his vote in the negative, the motion was rejected.—Subsequently, Mr. Paine said there was an error in making up the result, Mr. Hoar having voted yea, and his vote not having been recorded. The vote was counted accordingly, and on the recurrence of the question, shall the main question be ordered, the vote stood, yeas, 66; nays 80, and the bill was laid over. 18 Republicans voted yea. After some further business the House adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.

Virginia was the theme in both Houses of Congress yesterday. In the Senate the debate was continued, and an effort of the ultras to procure the postponement of the bill was defeated, 25 to 26—a number of Radicals voting with the Democrats in the negative. A discussion on Drake's infamous amendment followed; Mr. Williams, of Oregon—one of the ablest of the Radical Senators—giving it a complete ridding; but the arrival of a message from the President prevented action. The question came up in the House upon the report of a new bill from the Reconstruction Committee; a bill which Mr. Eldrige, of Wisconsin, stigmatized as abominable. It was recommitted in order to be printed, and will come up again to-day. Among the important business in the Senate was the notice of a bill by Mr. Sumner to authorize the refunding and consolidation of the national debt, to extend banking facilities, and to establish specie payments. Mr. Sherman, from the Finance Committee, reported, as a substitute for the various propositions relating to the currency before the committee, a bill providing for the issue of $45,000,000 more national bank-note currency in place of an equal amount of three per cent. certificates, to be retired. Also, for free banking on a gold basis, the banks to be allowed to issue gold notes to the extent of ninety per cent. of the bonds deposited. No provision is made for funding. In the House of Representatives several bills and resolutions of no special interest were presented. The proceedings concluded with a general debate in the Committee of the Whole on the negro and finance.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.

In the United States Senate yesterday, Mr. Sumner introduced his new finance bill. Mr. Conkling presented the resolutions of the Legislature of New York, rescinding the ratification of the fifteenth amendment, and accompanied them with a sneering commentary. The debate on the Virginia bill was resumed, all great guns on the radical side participating pro and con. Sumner fought desperately for further exclusion, but the debate shows that a majority of his party in the Senate are opposed to him. No vote was reached.

In the House, the League Island job was discussed for an hour without any conclusion, and Mr. Farnworth's Virginia bill then came up for consideration. Speechess were made by Farnsworth and Paine on the Radical side, and by General Morgan for the Democrats. Without action, the House adjourned. The Virginia muddle will probably bother Congress for several days to come. Butler has not yet opened his batteries upon the Grant faction of his party.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.

In both Houses of Congress yesterday the Virginia exclusion question was debated without reaching a final vote. The Senate discussion was made unusually interesting by a fierce set-to between Trumubll and Sumner, in which the latter charged the Western Senator with lukewarmness in, and even apostacy to the "great cause" of Radicalism. Mr. Trumball retorted by ridiculing Sumner's pretensions to the leadership of the party. The Senate was delighted to witness the writhings of their big bully under the scalping knife of the Illinois brave. Drake's rascally amendment to return Virginia to military government, if at any time after admission it should repudiate Radicalism, was voted down, 11 to 45. Mr. Edmunds introduced a test-oath amendment, which was under consideration when the Senate went into executive session. The House debate was distinguished by a logical speech from Fernando Wood and an amusing passage between Logan and Lawrence of Ohio. The bill is to be brought to a vote at 3 o'clock to-day. In addition to the Virginia matter in the Senate, the lengthy Mr. Pratt delivered a lengthy and dry argument in support of a bill extending to State courts, the admiralty jurisdiction now exercised by Federal courts, and Mr. Ramsey reported a joint resolution providing for aiding the construction of an American line of steamships between New York and Europe. In the House Mr. Willard (Rad.), of Vermont, in roduced buncombe resolutions, favoring economy and deprecating the purchase of any more foreign territory—St. Domingo or otherwise, and Mr. Mungen made a personal explanation relative to his repudiation speech, for which he claimed the entire responsibility.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.

The House was engaged during the whole of yesterday on the bill to admit Virginia into the Union. After a protracted debate, the amendment of Mr. Wittimore, of South Carolina, imposing a penalty for false swearing by members of the Legislature was rejected, after which Mr. Bingham's substitute was adopted by 98 yeas to 95 nays. The bill as amended was then passed by yeas 143, nays 49. The House then adjourned until Monday.

In the Senate the joint resolution in regard to Virginia admission, pending from the previous day, was taken up. A long debate ensued, and several amendments were offered and rejected. One, however, offered by Mr. Willey, of West Virginia, was adopted, requiring the members and officers of the Virginia Legislature to take the oath prescribed in the third section of the fourteenth amendment, but allowing the immediate admission of the State. A night session was held, and the subject farther discussed. The Senate received the bill that had been passed by the House, but laid it aside without action, and continued the consideration of its own bill. The Senate adjourned, at 10.30 P. M., until Monday, having agreed to take a vote at 3 o'clock P. M. on that day.

On New Year's day three children, sons of Mr. Joseph Whyle, a respectable laboring man, residing near Pomton, in Passaic county, N. J., at the base of Wynockie mountain, left home for the purpose of "going nutting" in the woods on the mountain. It was four o'clock when they left home, so that their failure to return at nightfall occasioned but little alarm. After that however, their continued absence rendered the distracted parents almost frantic. The fearful rain storm which prevailed during the night and part of the next day fearfully intensified the feelings of the bereaved father and mother, inasmuch as their little darlings and not yet been seen or heard from. On Monday a search was made by a number of the country people, but nothing could be discovered of the whereabouts of the missing children, whose ages were respectively ten, seven and five years. The entire neighborhood at length joined in the search, and it was not till Tuesday last the mystery was solved. The innocent trio were found lying dead, side by side, on the south side of the mountain, some ten or eleven miles from their home. It was quite thickly covered with timber where the bodies were discovered. From the appearance of the latter it is thougnt that the children existed for several days on the nuts they had gathered previous to being benighted, and having lost their way were overtaken by physical exhaustion and starvation, which resulted in death. Their bodies were removed to the home of their heartbroken parents, for whom the entire community evinces the deepes. sympathy.

THE IRREPRESSIBLE NEGRO.—Verily the world moves fast, and the greatest changes take place within a very short time. Less than ten years ago the negroes had no social or political rights with the white men. They are now equal with the whites, and in the South superior, so far as our Radical Government can make them so. An event occurred at the White House on New Year's day which shows how "colored folks" understanding that an order had been given that they were not to have the honor of a reception by the President until after the "white folks" had been received, rebelled at this invidious distinction, and made a great noise at such a violation of the Chicago platform and the principles of the party in power. Sambo is right. The party in power owes its existence to him and it was an unkind cut to place him in the background. We know not the ground of this exclusion; if it was on account of the odor that might have troubled the crowds of white ladies and gentlemen present on that occasion we recommend Congress to make an appropriation for a large quantity of eau de cologne for the negroes in time for the next New Year's reception.—New York Herald.

Dr. Paul Schœppe has had published in the Baltimore Wecker, a German newspaper, a statement to the effect that he is not the same Dr. Schœppe mentioned by Dr. Giest, in his letter from Berlin, as having been imprisoned in that city for forgery. This card is signed by Louis Faber, "second mayor of Carlisle," and two other friends of Dr. Schœppe, but the communication is in the handwriting of Schœppe, and the Wecker painfully suggests that the signatures may not be genuine. Mr. Faber says he has known Dr. Schœppe in both countries, but does not think he is the man alluded to as the absconded Berlin forger. In a word; no proof is adduced that Schœppe, of Carlisle, is not the Schœppe of Berlin, much as we desire to witness it.

The municipal government of Washington seem to be bent upon putting the city in full trim for a complete "World's Exhibition" in 1872. The Council last week passed (with but two dissentient votes) an ordinance prescribing severe penalties upon all hotel keepers, directors of public amusement, in short, upon every citizen required to take out a license, who shall refuse to accommodate ladies and gentlemen of color. I learn that it is designed to enforce this ordinance with the utmost vigor.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.—The Advertiser, having been restored to health in a few weeks by a very simple remedy, after having suffered several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease, Consumption, is anxious to make known to his fellow-sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge,) with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a sure cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, etc. The object of the advertiser in sending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and spread information which he conceives to be invaluable; and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing.

Parties wishing the prescription, will please address REV EDWARD A. WILSON,

Williamsburg, Kings County, New York.

ERRORS OF YOUTH.—A gentleman who suffered for years from Nervous Debility Premature Decay, and all the effects of youthful indiscretion, will, for the sake of suffering humanity, send free to all who need it, the receipt and directions for making the simple remedy by which he was cured. Sufferers wishing to profit by the advertiser's experience, can do so by addressing in perfect confidence, JOHN B. OGDEN, Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills, will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint, and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver, and put it to work: then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe, a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the duets of the gall-bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care), that will unlock the gall-bladder and starts the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the Alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills, or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has Consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood: then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

When there is no lung disease, and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all billious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompanying each, make it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless the patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond Street, New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A.M. to 3 P.M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1 50 per bottle, or $7 50 a half-dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists.

THE WEEKLY SUN will renew its best efforts as a first-class News and Literary Journal. Every improvement of modern journalism—by which it is distinguished—will be maintained, and such attention be given to its several departments as will insure their continued interest, and whatever may be necessary to render them more complete will not be lost sight of.

Through no other medium can families and individuals in the towns and villages and rural districts of the country be so well supplied with proper literature, and a full knowledge of the world's whole news, from week to week.

MAKE UP CLUBS.

While the WEEKLY SUN is afforded at the low rate of $1 50 per annum to single subscribers, the CLUB rates are still lower, carrying the price down as low as one dollar per year where twenty-five copies or more are taken at one post office at a time, viz:

Any postmaster or storekeeper in the county may easily accomplish this among his acquaintances, or any active person, male or female, do the same. The regular diffusion of the light and intelligence which such a journal affords will be a moral and social advantage in any neighborhood.

A PARTING WORD.—We have grown tired of printing duns in this shape. Our friends in arrears are proof against all such missiles. We have, therefore, concluded to try a different plan, of which due notice is hereby given. We are now sending to each delinquent subscriber a statement of his account, with the proposition that if it be paid by Feb. 19, 1870, a certain deduction will be made. If not paid by that time, full rates will be charged, payment enforced by law, and the paper discontinued in all cases of more than one year's arrearage. Upwards of ten thousand dollars of unpaid subscriptions and advertising have accumulated on our books during the last five years. This is a load we cannot carry any longer. Will our friends assist us in lightening it, or must we summon to our ai that vexatious and detestable instrumentality, The Law?

Somerset is again agitating the question of building a branch railroad from the Pittsburg and Connellsville road to that place. Let'r agitate!

The Altoona Sun comes to us this week shining with a new and beautiful head. Long may it continue to shine!

Olive Logan says she never saw a pretty girl but she wanted to take her in her arms and kiss her. That's our fix exactly, but we don't want our better half to find it out.

Does any farmer in Bedford county remember the time when three pounds of butter would pay for a bushel of wheat? It can be done now.

The Masons and Odd Fellows in Chambersburg have been making liberal donations to the the poor of that place.

The scarlet fever scourge still prevails in Richland township, Cambria county. Over thirty children have already died, and many more are sick and not likely to recover.

The weather for the last ten days has been unusually mild in temperature for this season of the year, and also unusually gloomy. Altogether it is no benefit to anybody but the doctors.

The Norristown Register rejoices in a subscriber 92 years old who has taken that paper since 1801, and always paid for it in advance. May his tribe increase!

A bill has been introduced in our Legislature making it a penal offence to put up medical prescriptions, unless the operator has served a two years' apprenticeship in a drug store, or is a graduate of a medical college of pharmacy.

As the New Year is always an occasion for making good resolutions we hope that some of our friends throughout the county will resolve to send us items during the present year. They will be welcomed by us.

The Bellefonte Watchman is responsible for the following: "The biggest chicken coop in the state is the Capitol at Harrisburg, now filled with roosters." And they "set" and hatch out "ways and means" to plunder the Treasury.

Ebensburg boasts of a sewing machine which has been in use for eighteen years, and is as sound as ever.—Bedford has a score that have been in use for over forty years, that are a little sounder than ever. That's vehemently true.

COUNTY AUDIT.—The County Auditors were in session last week, Owen McGirr, Esq., the newly elected member, taking his place in the board. Mr. McGirr is a practical business man and makes a good officer. The report of the auditors will be published in a few weeks.

Neglected Cough, Cold, or Sore Throat, which might be checked by a simple remedy, like "Brown's Bronchial Troches," if allowed to progress may terminate seriously. For Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh, and Consumptive Coughs, "The Troches" are used with advantage, giving oftentimes immediate relief. Singers and public speakers will find them also excellent to clear the voice and render articulation wonderfully easy.

TAVERN LICENSES.—A number of persons have requested us, by letter, to publish tavern license notices. This we cannot do. Petitions for license must be filed in the Prothonotary's office, after which that officer furnishes us with a list for publication. Parties desiring license had better attend to this matter at once, for after next week the number of insertions required by law cannot be had.

SEVERE STORM.—On last Monday afternoon a severe storm of rain, accompanied with thunder and lightning, passed over this place. We learn that in some districts of the county the storm was more severe than here; whole lines of fences yielding to the furious elements. In East Providence the barn of Wr. William Whetstone was entirely destroyed by the storm.

MASONIC APPOINTMENTS.—Alex. M. Lloyd, of Hollidaysburg has been appointed Deputy District Grand Master for the counties of Cambria, Huntingdon, Blair and Bedford.

J. King McLaughlan of the same place, has been re-appointed Deputy District Grand High Priest for the counties of Blair, Cambria, Huntingdon, Mifflin, Juniata, Bedford and Fulton.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—On Friday night last, the extensive Tannery of Rowland Austin in Licking Creek Township, caught fire from the boiler, and was burnt to the ground. There was an insurance on the building, but to what extent, and the amount of loss we were unable to ascertain. This is the third time it has been burnt.—Fulton Republican.

STILL BELLIGERENT.—The guerrilla fight among the Huntingdon radicals still goes bravely on. The criminations and recriminations of the several factions are rich, rare and racy. "Dad" Lewis' efforts at explanation as to what party he belongs to are "trooly phunny." With the same stoic indifference which the woman manifested when her husband and the bear were fighting, we "don't care which whips." Go in lemons!

HYMENEAL.—Jordan, junior editor of the Inquirer, being disgusted with the state of "single blessedness" has "went and gone" and emigrated to the state of matrimony. Venturesome youth! Plucky editor! May you ever rejoice that you have joined the noble band of benedicts! To the Senior we would say, "go and do likewise," and escape the horrid idea of dying an "old maid!"

NEW TREASURER.—With the county audit the term of Isaac Mengel, Esq., as county treasurer, closed, and he has handed over all books, papers, &c., to his successor, Hugh Moore, Esq. Mr. Mengel was an excellent officer and rendered satisfaction to the county and the people. Mr. Moore's well known business qualifications leave no doubt of his ability to render a good account of the trust which the people have imposed upon him.

PUNTO.—A few days ago a Sheriff's jury had a "long session" in a case to assess damages for the obstruction of a road. A Mock, a Slick and a Dull were interested as plaintiffs and defendants. During the progress of the case one of the jurors got off the following: "Do they intend to make a Mock of this case by Slick-ing it over in the Dull-est manner?" Cruel punster!

TEMPERANCE LECTURE.—On Monday evening last the first of a series of lectures under the auspices of the Good Templar's lodge, of this place, was delivered in the court house, by the Rev. Thomas Heyden. The room was filled to overflowing and the vast crowd listened to the venerable lecturer with the most profound attention. Father Heyden plead earnestly and eloquently for total abstinence from the use of alcoholic stimulants. We trust that his words of admonition and warning may not have been uttered in vain, but that the cause of temperance may receive a new impetus from this and the public lectures which are to follow on the subject. For the lecture, which will be given on next Monday evening the Rev. H. Heckerman was announced.

BASS IN THE JUNIATA.—We learn from the Huntingdon Globe that about ten days ago three hundred bass were placed in the Juniata river about a mile and a half above that town. They were brought in a barrel from the Potomac, and with such safety that only one died during the passage. A few years ago a few enterprising disciples of Walton put a dozen or two of Potomac bass in the Raystown branch, but whether there are any there now is a question that has not been solved as yet. We venture the prediction, however, that our Huntingdon neighbors will be successful in their enterprise, as they have gone about this piscatorial matter in a business like manner, and seem determined to test thoroughly the question of populating their waters with the delicious bass.

SNAKY.—The Hollidaysburg Register is responsible for the following snake story: On Monday morning last, in Hollidaysburg, as Mr. C. F. Eccleston was going out of his front door, he found a small snake, measuring about two feet in length, trying to get up his front door steps. The night was cold and windy, and where his snakeship came from, and how he lived, is past our comprehension. The most singular part of the matter is, that Mrs. Eccleston dreamt during the night that a snake was trying to get into the cradle to the baby, and she related the dream to her husband before he went out and found the snake.

The liberal proprietor of the Phila. Public Ledger has published an almanac for 1870 which he has presented to his numerous subscribers as a New Year's gift. It is ornamental as well as useful and is replete with valuable information. The publisher will accept our thanks for the copy which is before us.

LOCAL EDITING.—Apropos to the establishment in Washington College, Va., of a department for education in journalism, the Cincinnati Times thinks that the special professorship for instruction should be, as follows:

"The student in the local business should have a great deal of exercise on his legs each day—taught that it isn't brains so much as leg talent that is required to make an efficient local reporter. He must learn to smell an item at a long distance, as the model war horse "snuffeth the battle from afar," and spare no extra exertion in finding it. His fancy and imagination need to be cultivated somewhat, and his invention quickened and encouraged, in order that he may have something to fall back on in case things persistently refuse to happen, for the public demands local news every day, remember, whether there be any or not. Deprive them of able 'leaders' and they may stand it for a day or two but they won't give up their local news not for a single issue.

"The would be local will require little instruction in regard to receiving presents of boots, hats, clothing, bottles of wine, oysters, dead-head tickets etc., etc. They learn that very readily. The professor can do as he pleases about advising them to accept or refuse such perquisites. If any conscientious young local should have any scruples about accepting, we would remind him that he has as high authority as the President of the United States for taking in any presents offered him, and he can imitate it or not.

"The student should be taught to miss his meals often, sit up late at night, eat all sorts of festive suppers, and sit patiently to hear long and dull speeches from after dinner orators.—He must learn not to be alarmed by threats of horse whipping, and must be licked occasionally by the professor to accustom him to any incidents of the kind that are not improbable to occur.

"He must be taught to have no emotions of his own, to look upon all calamities with a purely professional eye, to observe and describe the convulsing humor of a popular comedian, and catch the last sigh of an expiring victim of the hangman, with the same stoical indifference. The professor of local reporting ought to hang a man occasionally in the presence of the class, in order that they may become able to report executions. And finally, the candidate for the 'local' chair should learn to live on a moderate income, sternly subdue all inclinations for more than the necessaries of life, and be willing to give poverty a smiling welcome, until fate or his own exertions hoists him to a higher place."

PERIODICALS.

THE DEMOCRATIC ALMANAC, for 1870, is now ready for distribution, and is one of the best of its kind issued in the United States. The political scholar, the agriculturist, merchant, manufacturer, and industrious working-man, everywhere, should have this Almanac where he can lay his hand upon it at any moment, for it is replete with miscellaneous information useful to all. The voter, especially, should have it, for it makes known many political points that are of vast importance to him, if he would vote understandingly; and as an old-fashioned, home-circle ALMANAC, it is well up in the astronomical calculations these issues generally embrace. Price for single copies, 20 cts., 7 copies, $1.00; 15 copies, $2.00, post paid; by express, $12.00 per hundred. Addres Van Evrie, Horton & Co., No. 162 Nassau st., N. Y.

THE LADY'S FRIEND FOR FEBRUARY.—The Febuary number of this favorite magazine leads off with a fine steel engraving of "The First Ball"—a scene which will be particularly interesting to young lady readers. Then follows the large sheet of Colored Fashions, tasteful and stylish; and a variety of superior wood-cuts, illustrating the latest mode for costumes, bonnets, hats, &c. The music for this month is, "I wish that I were Young Again." The literary department has excellent articles in prose and poetry. Published by Deacon & Peterson, 319 Walnut Street, Philadelphia. Price $2.50 a year (which also includes a large steel engraving). Four copies, $6. Five copies (and one gratis), $8. "The Lady's Friend" and "The Saturday Evening Post" (and one engraving), $4.00.

BRAINARD'S MUSICAL WORLD.—The January number of this valuable musical monthly is at hand, as entertaining and instructive as ever. The present number contains three beautiful new pieces of music—"Striving for the Mastery," new temperance song and chorus; "Under the Hazel Tree," a beautiful song, and "Annie Waltz," for the piano, one of the prettiest waltzes we have ever heard. The music in this number is alone worth the subscription price a year, which is only $1.00. We advise all our readers to subscribe at once, as a new volume begins with this number, or send ten cents to the publishers, S. Brainard & Sons, Cleveland, O., and they will send you specimen copies by return mail.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE.—The first of the monthlies to put in an appearance on our table for February, is Peterson's Ladies' National. Our better half assures us that it cannot come too early. As a book of fashions it has no rival. Mrs. Ann S. Stevens' great story, "The Prisoner of the Bastile," is at present running through the pages of this magazine. The above is worth the subscription price. Send $2.00 to Chas. J. Peterson, 306 Chestnut st., Philadelphia, and get it for one year.

PACKARD'S MONTHLY.—The February number of this sprightly magazine is on our table. It is the liviest journal on our list, and we eagerly await its monthly visits. Packard discards fiction, but the pages of his magazine are enriched by the every-day life of men and women of yesterday and to day. Enlarged and improved for the present year it bids fair far a long life of usefulness. For terms, &c., address, S. S. Packard, 937 Broadway, New York.

BALLOU'S MONTHLY.—This monthly magazine is a marvel of excellence and cheapness. The February number is on our table, and the best that we can say for it is, that it is as interesting as ever. The subscriber is presented with a hundred pages of choice reading matter every month at the low price of one dollar a year. Address the publishers Elliot, Thomes & Talbot, 63 Congress Street, Boston, Mass.

Sproat, Jonathen Diehl, Jacob Shartzer Sasan Carney and others, containing 90 acres, about 70 acres cleared and under fence, 10 acres of which is good meadow. The improvements are a one and a half story log dwelling house, log barn, and other buildings. Also a large orchard of choice apple, peach and cherry trees. LORILLARD'S "EUREKA" SMOKING TOBACCO is an excellent article of granulated Virginia; wherever introduced it is universally admired. It is put up in handsome muslin bags, in which orders for Meerschaum Pipes are daily packed.

LORILLARD'S YACHT CLUB SMOKING TOBACCO is made of the choicest leaf grown; it is antinervous in its effects, as the Nicotine has been extracted; it leaves no disagreeable taste after smoking; it is very mild, light in color and weight, hence one pound will last as long as 3 of ordinary tobacco. In this brand we also pack orders every day for first quality Meerschaum Pipes. Try it and convince yourselves it is all it claims to be, "THE FINEST OF ALL."

LORILLARD'S CENTURY CHEWING TOBACCO. This brand of Fine Cut chewing tobacco has no equal or superior any where. It is without doubt the best chewing tobacco in the country.

LORILLARD'S SNUFFS have now been in general use in the United States over 110 years, and still acknowledged "the best" wherever used.

If your storekeeper does not have these articles for sale, ask him to get them; they are sold by respectable jobbers almost everywhere.

TESTIMONIALS.

The Waters' Pianos are known as among the very best.—N. Y. Evangelist.
We can speak of the merits of the Waters' Pianos from personal knowledge as being of the very best quality.—Christian Intelligencer.
The Waters' Pianos are built of the very best and most thoroughly seasoned material.—Advocate and Journal.
Our friends will find at Mr. Waters' store the very best assortment of Pianos, Melodeons and Organs to be found in the United States.—Graham's Magazine.
MUSICAL DOINGS.—Since Mr. Waters gave up publishing sheet music, he has devoted his whole capital and attention to the manufacture and sale of Pianos and Melodeons. He has just issued a catalogue of his new instruments, giving a new scale of prices, which shows a marked reduction from former rates, and his Pianos have recently been awarded the First Premium at several Fairs. Many people of the present day, who are attracted, if not confused, with the flaming adeertisements of rival piano houses, probably overlook the modest manufacturer like Mr. Waters; but we happen to know that his instruments earned him a good reputation long before Expositions and "honors" connected therewith were ever thought of; indeed, we have one of Mr. Waters' Pianofortes now in our residence (where it has stood for many years,) of which any manufacturer in the world might well be proud. We have always been delighted with it as a sweet-toned and powerful instrument, and there is no doubt of its durability; more than this, some of the best amateur player in the city, as well as several celebrated pianists have performed on the same piano, and all pronounce it a superior and first-class instrument. Stronger endorsement we could not give.—Home Journal. jan15,'69.

CONSUMPTION, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Catarrh cured by inhalation. Abbott's Inhaling Fluid is the only remedy known that operates on the lungs—dissolves the tubercles, which are thrown off, the cavities heal, and a cure is effected. Treatment by letter or in person can be had only of a large quarto sheet, printed throughout in large type and published every Wednesday morning, has now the largest circulation of any weekly newspaper in the United States, with possibly, a single exception. Among its prominent features are:

1. Its very full and accurate market reports, embracing the Live Stock markets of New York, Albany, Cambridge, and Philadelphia; and New York Country Produce Market, and General Produce Markets of the country; and full reports of the New York Money Market. Each of the reports are complied with great care, and contain the latest quotations that can be obtained up to the time of putting the paper to press.
2. Its Agricultural Department, which contains each week articles on practical and scientific farming that are of great value to American farmers. A special feature of this department is a weekly summary of the condition of the Hop Markets at home and abroad.
3. A very full report of the proceedings of the Farmers' Club of the American Institute is printed in each issue of the Weekly World, the day after the meeting of the Club. By this arrangement the report appears in the Weekly World one week in advance of its publication in any other weekly paper.
4. A portion of the Weekly World is reserved for family reading matter, including original and selected stories, poems, waifs of humor, and extracts from books and periodicals.—Particular attention will be given to this department during the year 1870.
5. A special feature of the Weekly World is a carefully complied summary of the news of each week. It is made so complete that no one who reads it can fail of being well posted on all the important news of the day.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY WORLD,

published Tuesday and Friday, is a large quarto sheet, containing all the news published in the Daily World, with the exception of such local reports as may be of no interest to non-residents of New York City. Its market reports are as full as those of the Daily edition, and it contain, besides interesting literary matter, on Friday of each week a full report of the Farmers' Club.

THE DAILY WORLD

contains all the news of the day that can be obtained by mail and telegraph from all parts of the world, and the thorough discussions of all topics of interest.

THE WORLD ALMANAC FOR 1870.

OUR NEW FAMILY SEWING MACHINE.

The superior merits of the "Singer" Machines over all others, for either Family use or Manufacturing purposes, are so well established and so generally admitted, that an enumeration of their relative excellences is no longer considered necessary.
OUR NEW FAMILY MACHINE, which has been brought to perfection regardless of time, labor, or expense, is now confidently presented to the public as incomparably the Best Sewing Machine in existence. The machine in question is Simple, Compact, Durable and Beautiful. It is quiet, light running, and never before attempted upon a single Machine,—using either SILK, TWIST, LINEN OR COTTON THREAD, and sewing with equal facility the very finest and coarsest materials, and anything between the two extremes, in the most beautiful and substantial manner. Its attachments for Hemming, Braiding, Cording, Tucking, Quilting, Felling, Trimming, Binding, etc., are Novel and Practical, and have been invented and adjusted especially for this Machine.
CAPABLE OF PERFORMING A RANGE AND VARIETY OF WORK
Now designs of the Unique, Useful, and Popular Folding Tops and Cabinet Cases, peculiar to the Machines manufactured by this Company, have been prepared for enclosing the new Machine.
A faint idea, however, can at best be conveyed through the medium of a (necessarily) limited advertisement; and we therefore urge every person in quest of a Sewing Machine, by all means to examine and test, if they can possibly do so, all the leading rival Machines before making a purchase. A selection can then be made understandingly. Branches or agencies for supplying the "Singer" Machines will be found in nearly every city and town throughout the civilized world, where Machines will be cheerfully exhibited, and any information promptly furnished. Or communications may be addressed to READ! READ!! READ!!!

MIDDLETON'S
WONDERFUL PAIN CURE

A sure remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Growing Pains, Sprains, Bruises, Stiffnes, of the Joints and all similar diseases.
This wonderful remedy is composed entirely of vegetable ingredients. There are no injurious substances used in its manufacture.
For assurance of its excellent properties, read the following certificates:

BEDFORD, May 8, 1869.

I take great pleasure in giving my testimony to the value of "Middleton's Wonderful Pain Cure." I have been a martyr to Rheumatism For two months previous to Feb. 25th, last, I was suffering intensely with pain so severe, that during all that time I had not one night of comfortable sleep. I could not put my hands to my face, could not comb my own hair, nor feed myself; but after having the Pain Cure applied once, I found relief enough to give me comfortable sleep, and with its steady use, I continued to get better, and now at the end of ten weeks from its first application, I have comparatively free use of my hands, sleep well and can attend to business. It has done me more good than all other medicines I have ever used put together, and I cheerfully give this certificate of its value.
ELI M. FISHER.

BEDFORD, April 14, 1869.

Mr. W. W. Middleton,
This is to certify that I was taken with Rheumatism, in my right shoulder, on the evening of the 8th inst., so that I was unable to raise my hand to my face. I got some of your Pain Cure and applied it twice, and was entirely relieved. I would recommend to every one who suffers with Rheumatism to give it a trial and be cured.
Yours &c., A. F. MILLER.

BEDFORD, May 17, 1869.

Mr. Middleton,
DEAR SIR:—I have used several bottles of your medicine in my family, and find it to be all you claim for it. Yours, truly,
JOHN HAFER.

BEDFORD, May 13, 1869.

This is to certify that I have used "Middleton's Pain Cure," for Rheumatism, and was very much benefited by it. JOHN HARRIS.

BEDFORD, May 18, 1869

This is to certify that I have used Middleton's Liniment, for the Rheumatism which I had in my right shoulder so bad that I could not get my hand to my head without great pain, and after a few applications was entirely relieved.
L. F. DART.

BEDFORD, May 1, 1869.

Mr Middleton,
Dear Sir:—Mrs. Bowser was in much suffering for some four weeks with Rheumatism, and got some of your Pain Cure, and the first night I applied it it eased the pain: and after keeping on using it for two weeks, she was restored to health. I feel it to be my duty, as it is a pleasure, to write this recommendation for the benefit of others. JACOB BOWSER

BEDFORD, May 16 1869.

Mr W. W. Middleton:
Sir—I procured a bottle of your Liniment for Rheumatism, and it gives me great pleasure in saying that after using it for two days, my rheumatism was completely relieved My sister was suffering, at the same time, with Inflamatory Rheumatism in her right hand and wrist—after using it for several days she was relieved. I consider it the best remedy I ever heard of.
JOHN KEEFE

BEDFORD, May 24, 1869.

This is to certify that I have used one bottle of Middleton's Liniment for Rheumatism, and think it a good cure, and would recommend it to all persons that are afflicted with the above disease.
AUGUSTUS CARVER.

BEDFORD, May 26, 1869.

Mr. Middleton:
Sir—I procured one bottle of your medicine and used one-half of it for Rheumatism, which effected a permanent cure up to this time. I cannot hesitate in saying that it is the best remedy I ever used. A. B. CARN.

This excellent PAIN CURE is prepared only by W. W. MIDDLETON, Bedford, Pa., to whom all orders for the medicine should be addressed.
